

Oka the Neko

A Cute Retro Random Running Game

SAT 21 MAY 11:00 AM EST

May 21, 2016 – Puerto Rico, USA – Cup of Tea Games has released their new game

"Oka the Neko" for Android and Kindle devices.

You play as a retro style inspired pink cat relying on quick reflexes to avoid incoming obstacles. You encounter a unique experience everytime, avoiding things ranging from deadly Sunflowers with spike thorns, ground spikes, regular rocks, falling rocks from the sky, jumping slimes, and more! Everything in this game is completely unpredictable because each time you play the game randomly generates each run! With incremental speeds, varied gameplay, and integrated achievements, this game would sure to worthwhile do those who are fans of the retro era of games!

The game is truly inspired by retro art style and design. Despite being a mobile game, the bottom half of the screen is reserved to have your conventional A and B buttons to both hop over any deadly obstacles, or to simply talk to random characters. This is one the few mobile runners that allows you to stop in game to talk to characters in the RPG text based dialogue we all know and love! Do you like super bad puns? Do you like to hunt for secrets in games? Do you like to set a record against your friends? This game has all of that! With over 30 hidden secrets and nods to explore in which shall be a nice treat for those whom enjoy secrets!

Finally, there is an In-Game shop that allows you to buy things such as perks, costumes, and music tracks for the game using the coins you collect! This is Oka the Neko! You can check out the official video trailer showcasing the gameplay of the Pre-Release Version of the game at : https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9cxQap_-t9g

Availability & System Requirements : Oka the Neko
